

XIX th C house at San Lorenzo-Alameda

Seville, Center, ID: 410213 | Price on application

Description

Original Sevillian house in the neighborhood of San Lorenzo.

In the entry hall we find Manises Valencian tiles that are also present in the main courtyard. These tiles are original from the XVIIIth century.

After the hall there is a courtyard that gives light to the various rooms of the house.

In the background, there is a nice courtyard in which there is a Moorish well (SX-XII) and also a spiral staircase from the Muslim era that is a real gem.

The house was fully restored in the 90's under the guidance of renowned architect Rafael Manzano, the curator of the Alcazar of Seville.
