Description

With lots of personality. Fully restored and in perfect condition. Very well situated within this picturesque district of Sevilla.

On the outside it has typical hand painted Seville tiles that stand out above the terracota pots that stand on the wall surrounding the house. The interior is very bright and in well insulated (thanks to an insulated chamber that covers the house completely and double glazed windows with wooden covers and reed blinds) it has 3 floors and a large roof.

The doors and main windows are exclusive designs with stained glass the look is completed by an aluminum and copper staircase designed by by David Marshall, over vengue wooden floors , travertine and slate.

Finally, it is worth mentioning a few accessories such as Hans Grohe showers, Smeg appliances, etc..

A home for living.

On one side of the house we find the fully equipped office, another of the strengths of this property because it offers the possibility of professional development without having to move form home, or perhaps the possibility of developing new businesses projects or hobbies with which we have always dreamed.
