Description

Charming country house in pale pinks set in a garden with a wonderful centuries-old oriental plane trees, walnuts and fir. The original house is from the beginning of the XXth century with pretty hydraulic floors. It has large rooms with high ceilings crowned with arches. It is within the town of Almodovar and is very suitable to transform into a beautiful hotel taking advantage of the numerous visits to the Castle of Almodovar. The area described includes an orchard of orange trees in one hectare.

The house has four large old garages with stone floor and four boxes.

It is near the lake of la Breña where there is a sailing club.

To be reformed.
