Description

This farmhouse was fully restored by its current owners.

They bought a house in poor condition and reconstructed it using original materials and giving it its original touch.

The house has long views and some Atlantic breezes that cool the atmosphere in the afternoon.

Basically it is a beautiful cobblestone entrance courtyard, with perfectly trimmed Benjamina ficus trees and a rather rectangular house, with an ancient Arabic tile roof and four terraces with views of the different orientations.

It has a large living room, a magnificent kitchen of great proportions, two good master suites and several other bedrooms, all of them with bathroom and private terrace to the outside.

It should be noted the large pool with a pavilion almost hanging over the olive grove and the beautiful undulating landscape of the surroundings. The garden is very well-kept and the centenary olive trees stand out.

The place can not have more charm, more peace and more privacy. It is also really close to Seville and Ronda as well as Jerez and hurrying, from the Malaga airport ...

In total about 3.5 has. with about 1,200 m² built.
