Description

This house is set in the countryside of the Sierra de Aracena, in a little village, surrounded by mountains full of chestnut trees, oaks and even cypress where a couple in love with nature built it three years ago.

It is well oriented south facing which in winter makes it sunny and warm.

The materials used are top quality: pine parquet floor, aluminum windows painted wood color, central gas heating, ...

It is well connected with Seville (80 minutes), Huelva (60 minutes) and Portugal (30 minutes).
