Description

This spectacular big game preserve of 600 hectares is located South East Portugal, right on the border of Portugal with Spain at the height of the Natural Park of the Guadiana, one of the most beautiful places in the south of the country, a place full of life and vegetation.

It is a lovely property and in recent times have conducted several performances with great success, these have improved the estate and properties:

- hunting mesh two meters and ten centimeters high, has installed a perimeter
- It has been repopulated with exceptional deers.
- As for the facilities have been reconstructed with great care and attention.
- The performances in vegetation have been made to improve pastures and irrigation facilities (natural springs, lakes, etc ...).
- The feeding of cattle has been special for hunting trophies. Spectacular big game preserve of 600 hectares in Portugal has two areas divided by proportional meshes independently, leading to very narrow spaces:
- A reserve area and animal husbandry with several open spaces, meadows and planted with oats, oak acorns in season, etc.
- A second area with more hills and rocky areas, specifically intended for holding rolls “monterías” and birds like pigeons, doves and thrushes. An ideal place for hunting.
